

What really counts

Our independent advisory service and longstanding reputation remains unchanged as we continue to provide:

- Same fee-only independent financial advice.
- Still no bias or conflict of interest.
- Still 100% transparent.
- Still privately owned.
- Still fully licensed.
- Still our advisers receive salaries (not commissions).
- Same fee structure.
- Same commissions rebated annually to clients.
- Same informative Investing Times Newsletter.
- Same trustworthy & experienced advisers.
- Same quality advice.

Continuing to improve our service for you

Investstone
Wealth Management

As a highly valued client of Investstone Wealth Management we proudly wish to announce important changes designed to deliver even better services to you.

Integrated services

To increase the breadth, depth and the right blend of quality services which better meet the complete needs of our clients, Investstone Wealth Management is merging with renown Chartered Accountants, Business & Financial Advisers, Lachlan Partners.

This broadens the range of services we offer you - all under one roof - all with the same team.

Improved new services

This merger of highly specialised professionals simply means that we'll continue to provide you with the same level of quality advice, plus the added benefit of improved technical and research capabilities, with additional complimentary financial services.

This gives you even more peace of mind that your total wealth advisory and accounting needs are in the same great hands.

Our existing service, core principles, people and processes remain unchanged. We'll continue to provide fee-only independent financial advice, without influences from any other financial institutions - your financial interests are still our top priority.
